2. PROGRAMME THEME

As we enter 2025, labour laws compliance have become more important. With the changing landscape of the modern workplace, businesses must understand and comply with labour laws to protect the rights of their employees, avoid legal and financial consequences, maintain a positive company culture, keeping up with changes in Labour Laws and retaining top talents. Labour laws cover many issues, including minimum wages, working hours, overtime pay, sick leave, vacation time, Contract Labour, Industrial Disputes, Gratuity, ESI and more. Compliance with the labour laws is a legal obligation and a moral responsibility for businesses.

In 2019, the central Government introduced four bills on Labour Codes to consolidate 29 Central Laws. These are codes on Wages, Industrial Relations Code, Social Security Code and Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Codes .While the Wages Code waspassed in 2019, the other three bills were referred to a Standing Committee on Labour. As per the recommendations of the Committee, the government replaced these bills with new ones in 2020, and were passed.
